Local OMers near the top at nationals

By WENDY HANSCOM

A Telstar Middle School team took sixth place in their division at last week's Odyssey of the Mind World Competition in Maryland.

The OMers captured an outstanding second place finish in the "spontaneous" problem presented to them at the competition.

Team members Lauri Young, Michelle McInnis, Katie Chapman, Caitlin Bass, Martha Grover and Teri Chadbourne took 16th in their long-term problem—an analogy of Hemingway's "The Old Man and the Sea."

The team's scores were combined to give them a sixth place finish overall. They competed among 52 other middle school teams representing each state in the U.S.

"We're really proud of them," said the team's co-coach Donna Richards. "It was just amazing for them that they finished that high. They finished higher than any other team in the other divisions from Maine."

Chapman trial jury selection begins

By LISA WILLIAMS ACKLEY

Jury selection began yesterday in Oxford County Superior Court for the murder trial of a 39-year-old Gilead man charged with shooting his sister's fiancé with a 12-gauge shotgun last October.

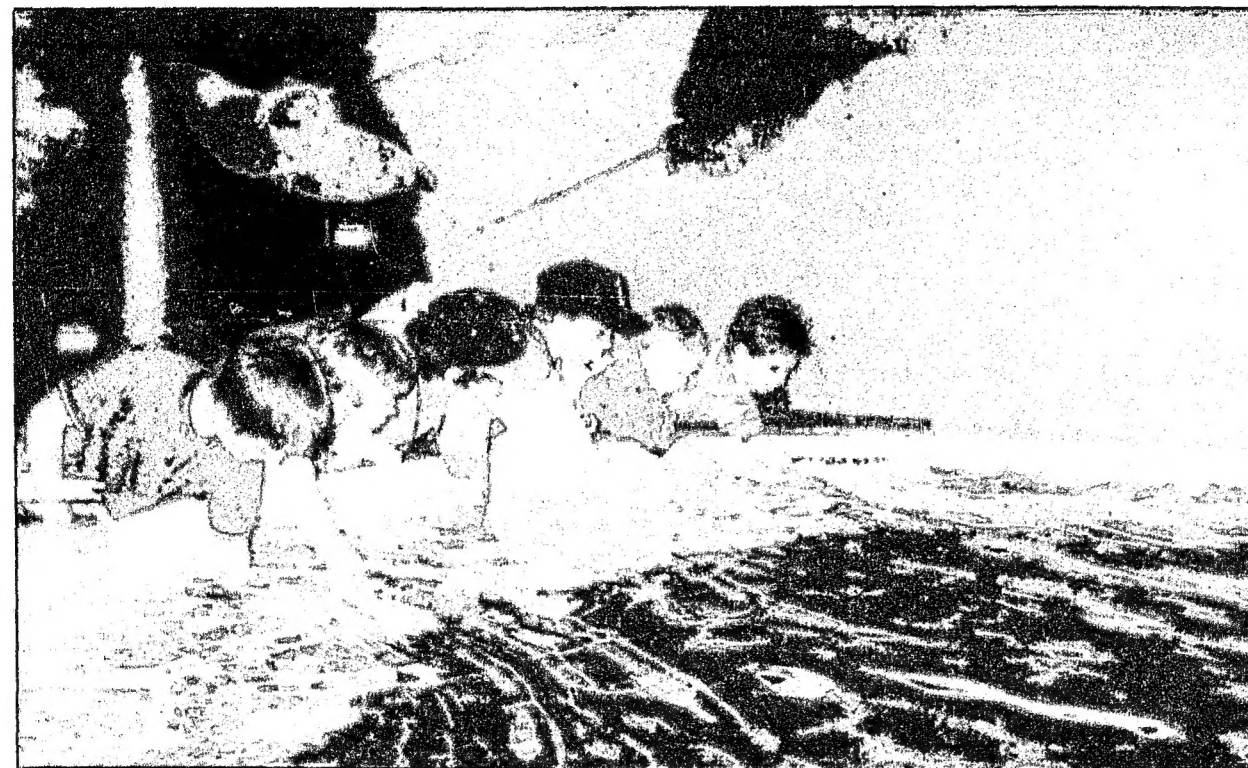

David E. Chapman, who is accused of killing his neighbor, Richard Hutchins, 28, on Oct. 8, faces from 25 years to life in prison if convicted on the murder charge.

Chapman's girlfriend, Caroline Sweetser, testified at the bail hearing that Chapman had returned to their home on Northwest Bethel Road around 11 p.m. on Oct. 8 and appeared angry but did not say anything to her. She testified she heard Chapman talking on the phone and after he hung up he told her, "Richie's on his way over here to cut my tires!"

Sweetser said that while she did not see Chapman remove the 12-gauge shotgun from the home, she heard him loading it in their bedroom and said the gun was not in the house after Chapman left. When he returned to their house less than half an hour later, she said he told her, "Richie's dead."

At the time of his death, Hutchins was living with Chapman's sister, Susan. The couple had lived together for 12 years, a relative said, and had a 6-year-old son.

Chapman, a wood-mill worker, has been held without bail at the jail since his arrest early on the morning of Oct. 9 for probation violation after sheriff's deputies found him holed up in his girlfriend's trailer.

EVERY KID WANTS A STING RAY—Fifth grade students from the Crescent Park School dip their hands into a pool of sting rays (minus the stingers) at the New England Aquarium in Boston last week while on the school's fifth-grade class trip for two days. Students also went to a Red Sox game at Fenway Park and spent a day at the Boston Museum of Science where they also took in a performance at the Hayden Planetarium. Rebel softballers rolling along

Play Thursday for Western Maine title

By WENDY HANSCOM

Telstar High School softball team avenged last year's playoff loss to Madison Tuesday and took a step closer to a shot at another Maine State Class C title.

The Rebels beat the Bulldogs 11-7 in the Western Maine Class C semi-final game.

If the Rebels win the Western Maine final scheduled for Thursday afternoon at Telstar, they will advance to Saturday's State Class C Championship game at the University of Maine at Orono.

Quarter-final win

On Saturday Telstar began its play-off journey by beating Hall-Dale, 8-1 in a quarter-final game.

Star pitcher Stacie Kangas allowed only six hits, struck out four and walked none.

The Rebel offense went scoreless for the first two innings, but tallied four runs in the third inning.

Suzanne Richardson drew a walk and advanced to second on an infield hit by Kangas. A bunt by Bernier was overthrown to first scoring Richardson and advancing Kangas to third, while Bernier ended up on second. Pam Bennett drew a walk to load up the bases. Jen Percival hit a long sacrifice fly to center which scored Kangas, but Bernier didn't tag up and was thrown out on her way back to second. Noelle Gauthier took first on an infield error. Amy Patten blasted a triple to score Bennett and Gauthier. Mae Lynn Patten grounded out to end the inning, stranding her sister Amy.

The Rebels added four more insurance runs in the fourth inning.

Boys wrap up strong season

By WENDY HANSCOM

After a stronger-than-expected season, Telstar High School's post-season baseball play ended abruptly Thursday. Erskine Academy beat the Rebels 16-4 in the Western Maine Class C preliminary round playoff game.

This was the first playoff game for Telstar since 1989, when the Rebels won the State Class C Championship.

Coach Bob Remington said at least this year his young team gained some valuable playoff experience.

"There was nothing we could do, once it became obvious that (pitcher) Tim Remington didn't have his good stuff," the coach said. "We've got a lot of young players and the kids threw the ball around sometimes and did the things you'd expect young players to do. But we only have four seniors on the team, so we learned a lot."

The 11th-seeded Rebels took on the six-seeded Eagles in South China.

Telstar got off to a good start. With two out in the first inning, Sean Gilson hit to third and beat out the throw to first. Tim Remington drew a walk and the runners advanced on a wild pitch. Chris Howe hit an infield grounder and both runners scored on an overthrow to first. Peter Miseroch struck out to retire the side.

Telstar tied 2-0 going into the bottom of the first, when Erskine jumped into the game with three runs.

Both teams were scoreless in the second inning. In the bottom of the second, Nate Emery made a sensational rolling catch in center for the second out. Pitcher Tim Remington struck out the next batter for the third out.

Telstar tied it up in the top of the third. Emery drew a walk, then went to second on a passed ball.

Town Meeting tonight

By MICHAEL DANIELS

At their annual Town Meeting tonight, Wednesday, Bethel voters will be asked to authorize a municipal budget of well over $1 million.

But if the past two Town Meetings are an indicator, fewer than one voter in 20 will bother to turn up.

Aside from money issues, there are few contentious articles to draw voters out this time around. The only new regulatory proposals on the warrant involve an updating of the Site Plan Review Ordinance, to make it more "applicant friendly," according to Planning Board chairman Frank Vogt, and a reauthorization of the town's Floodplain Management Ordinance.

Budget choices

Last year, for the first time in recent memory, the town's selectmen and budget committee were in agreement in their budget recommendations, and at Town Meeting voters even agreed to add in a little bit more.

This year the selectmen and budgeters are once again in agreement on roughly 95 percent of the budget, and decisions on the balance will be left to voters who turn up tonight.

The selectmen are proposing the town spend $1.25 million (not including school and county taxes), an increase of 13 percent. The budget committee recommendation totals $1.17, an increase of 5 percent.

The most significant differences between the two boards involve

Bethel elections

Balloting for Bethel town officials took place yesterday, but polls closed too late for the results to be included in this week's edition of The Citizen.

Full election results can be found in today's edition of our daily affiliate, the Lewiston Sun-Journal.

money being put aside for the town's Capital Improvement Program (CIP) and for winter roads maintenance.

CIP was established by the selectmen this year as a means of budgeting for the town's long-term capital expenses. The selectmen are recommending that voters set aside $183,000 (in new money) for future needs and for big ticket purchases in the coming year; the Budget Committee recommends only $117,200.

The Budget Committee concurred with the selectmen's recommendations for purchasing an ambulance, dump truck, firefighter turn-out gear, but the budgeters cut $27,000 earmarked for the eventual construction of a salt-sand shed, and $5,000 for the purchase (in 1995) of a new copier for the town office.

The Budget Committee also wants to spend $8,000 less than the selectmen on roads.

Boards can't reach bottom-line agreement

By MICHAEL DANIELS

To keep down taxes or to responsibly meet the real needs of the town—both the Bethel Board of Selectmen and the town Budget Committee must grapple each year with these conflicting priorities, and once again this year the selectmen and budgeters have reached different conclusions about how best to strike a workable balance.

And the differences between the two boards have led to some ill feelings. Following the Budget Committee's vote to cut funds from the town's new Capital Improvement Plan, selectmen chair Arlan Jodrey told his board, "I was really disappointed when I went to a Budget Committee meeting and they tore it apart."

In Jodrey's view, the Budget Committee's complaint that the selectmen's budget called for too much of a tax increase was "just the same old record being played by the same people."

But Budget Committee chair Pat Doen disagreed. "I think that there is, in general, too much of a tax and spend attitude. That, we do not need. We cannot continue along these lines," she said.

Fellow Budget Committee member Robert Chadbourne (a candidate for selectman) seconded Doen's view. Arguing that most taxpayers were already in debt, but that the town could borrow money for much less than the individual taxpayer, he said, "I'm not in favor of paying taxes with debt. We've got to keep the budget affordable to the people."

Chadbourne praised the concept of the selectmen's Capital Improvement Plan, but noted that it does not take into consideration the income side of the equation—"where the money is going to come from."

He also argued that state mandates for items such as the salt-sand shed were years off, and that it is too early to commit town funds for the project, especially when some form of state reimbursement might eventually be available.

"If we build the tax base now, it's not going to go back down," Chadbourne said.

But Selectman John Thurston sees the budget figures differently. The selectmen's proposed budget represents only "the money that needs to be spent to keep the town's infrastructure in shape," he said.

"I really don't think there's any fat in those figures," he said, "but that why we have Town Meetings—so voters can have the final say."

Prime investments

Ski related businesses can be good investments for the 1990s, according to the author of a national economic analysis prepared for Snow Country magazine, and so are the communities those businesses are located in.

But there are a couple of important qualifications.

The best businesses are not the skiways themselves, but rather those ancillary businesses associated with the recent trend toward development of a year-round, healthful mountain lifestyle.

And those businesses must be located near one of the ski industry "survivors"—resorts, like Newry's Sunday River, which have managed to grow their market share during a decade of relatively flat skier visits, a decade which saw over 200 ski resorts go out of business.

"The ski engine that drives snow country is becoming more powerful," writes Prof. John Rooney Jr., head of the Department of Geography at Oklahoma State University. "So, too, are off-season tourism and the service infrastructure."

"Spurred initially by skiing, many alpine counties and communities have undergone a cultural and economic metamorphosis. Most particularly the service sector of their economic base including the arts, education, recreation, health care protection and planning have matured. Communities have developed infrastructures which allow them to function as quality residential places rather than pure tourist destinations."

The past decade, Rooney observes, was characterized by improvement in the ski experience, but also "by the construction of off-season facilities, particularly golf courses and retail businesses. As a result, year-round livable communities are becoming the rule in U.S. alpine environments."

Rooney's report is entitled, "Snow Country: an analysis of ancillary growth." It measures the impact of skiing at the county level, based on such factors as population, retail sales, housing units, and employment in real estate, eating, drinking, hotel and motel establishments.

The report, based in large part on 1990 census results, measures the total growth in each factor by county. Rooney does not attempt to separate out ski-specific growth—there is, for example, no seasonality index to the various factors.

The top spots on the survey go to Western counties.

Summit County, Utah, home of Deer Valley and Park City, tops the list, and counties in Colorado and California fill out the next seven spots.

But once the report gets beyond those relatively few counties were the bulk of economic and population growth can be clearly attributed to skiing, Rooney's rankings become quite surprising—and suspect.

To pick a rather obvious local example: For the past decade Sunday River Ski Resort has been the fastest growing ski resort in the East, arguably in the entire country, but Oxford County doesn't crack the top 10 national growth areas identified by Rooney.

In fact, it doesn't even show up in the top 100.

Rooney ranks Oxford County 114th nationally in ski related economic growth—well behind such alpine Meccas as Sussex County, N.J., and Hartford, Conn.

The ranking of high-population, suburban areas such as Sussex and Hartford counties illustrates a fundamental limitation in Rooney's study. Both counties do contain small ski areas, and both counties saw explosive growth during the past decade, but even ski industry boosters would certainly acknowledge that this growth had far more to do with the 1980's boom in communications, banking, real estate and insurance than it did with any increase in skier visits, or skier amenities, at Ski Sundown, Hidden Valley and Great Gorge.

Since Rooney is unable to separate out the impact of skiing from other, much larger-scale, economic growth factors (or to focus his analysis more closely on the communities actually affected by skiing-related growth), the New Jersey and Connecticut counties, and no doubt many others, earn higher rankings than their skiing-related activity would seem to warrant.

Back in Maine, Oxford County also ranks well behind Franklin County, home of Sugarloaf U.S.A., which turns up at 54th on the list. (But we'll stay out of that little competition.)

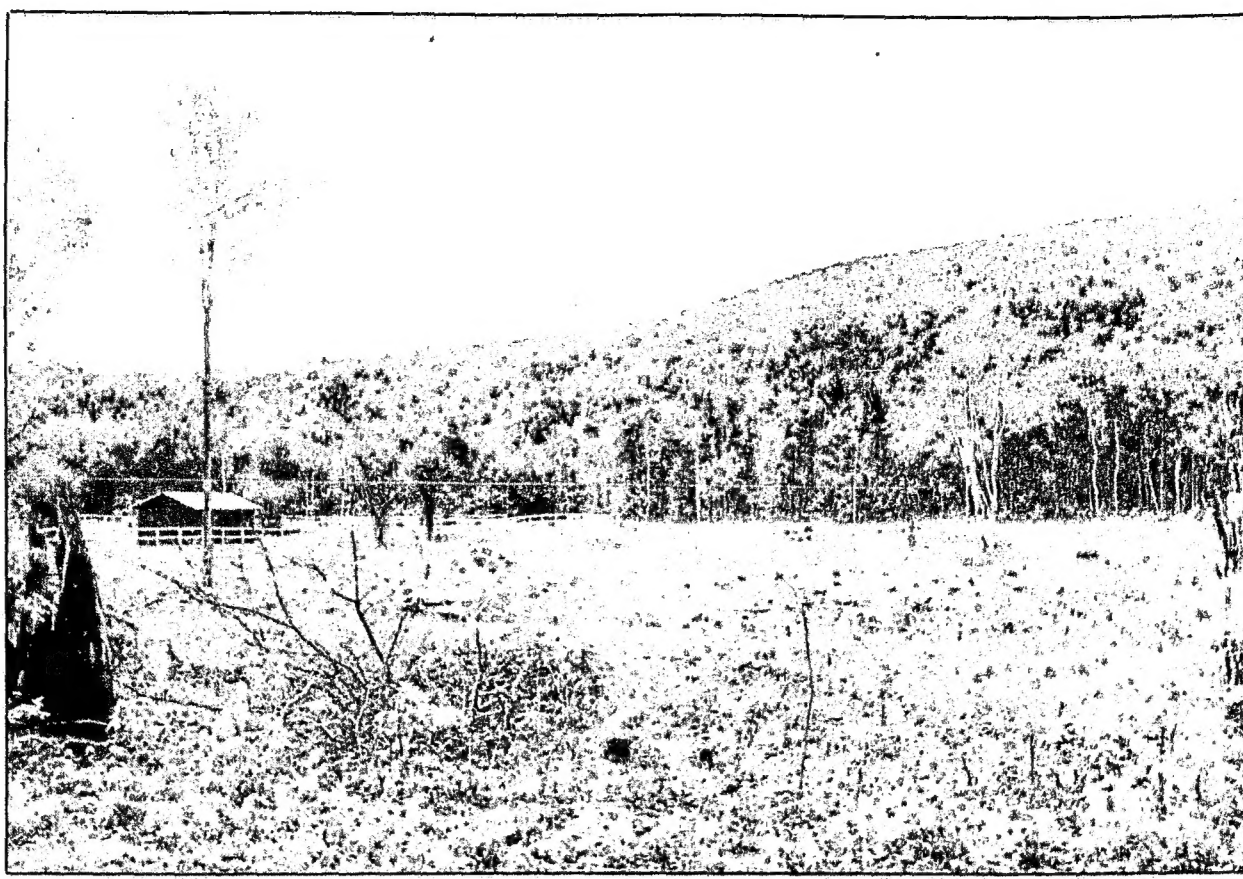

Rooney's rankings beyond the top 20 or so are no doubt more useful for starting conversations than for serious economic analysis, but his main conclusion is nonetheless well worth noting. There's not only growth in these here hills, there's also the opportunity to build, and support, a very fine quality of life for us all—provided we're willing to invest ourselves in it.

This is certainly not to say that some people were not living full, rich lives in western Maine long before the skiers arrived. But the marginal economy of rural Maine tended to restrict the choices of all but a fortunate few of its residents.

This is still sadly true throughout much of the state, but in the Bethel area that's been changing over the past decade, and it's a change for the good.

Our businesses, our people, our community—put them together and we've got ourselves a blue chip portfolio.

POSSIBLE VIOLATION WARNING—The Newry Planning Board has notified Tim Cohee of California that if his Newry farmland remains in the condition it is now, he will be in violation of his shoreland zoning permit. Planning Board Chairman Don Sandstrom said Cohee was given permission by the board to turn woodland along the Sunday River and the Sunday River Road into pasture. Cohee was to cut the wood, pull the stumps and reseed. The Cohee family has since relocated to California and the land is up for sale. Trees were cut off the lot, but the stumps were not pulled. Sandstrom said the board has also notified Cohee's realty company of the potential violation if the permit restrictions are not met.

PLAYGROUND DONATIONS WILL BE MATCHED

To the Editor:

As you may already be aware, the Bethel Area Playground committee has been meeting throughout the winter and spring with the purpose of establishing a Toddler/Preschool Playground at Davis Park on Route 26 in Bethel. SAVE THE TROUGH

To the Editor:

Last month another piece of Bethel disappeared from common view. The watering trough, a landmark on lower Main Street for over a century was removed as part of the changes taking place in that section of the village. It is also one more piece of Bethel that made the town unique. Increasingly, in the name of "progress" those elements that give the town a sense of place are disappearing. Those in charge of these changes appear intent on homogenizing our town's built environment so that there will be little (if anything) left that is unique or different from any other place. All one has to do is recall what happens when strip development takes over and every place looks the same with the same collection of gas stations, fast food establishments and shopping malls.

For a town that markets itself as the classic New England town, it is important that we retain as much of our "character" as possible. I have discussed with our town manager moving our watering trough to a new site, possibly on or near the Common, where it might be a visible reminder of the past, and where a civic group such as the Bethel Rotary, might take it on as a project and restore the trough to its former glory.

I hope that treads who feel as I do will make their views known to town officials. We need to keep as many reminders of our past as possible so that Bethel will continue to be a special place for both residents and visitors.

KEEP IT CHEMICAL FREE

To the Editor:

Graduation is fast approaching for the Class of '93. Traditionally this is a time for parties and celebrations. Our Project Graduation Committee wishes to encourage all friends and parents of these young people to provide chemical-free activities and to encourage their participation in all the celebrations we are planning. Letters have gone out to all seniors and their parents explaining all our projects. Please keep donations coming to help us cover these expenses. It is one great way to "Keep our Dreams Alive." Thank you for your continued support.

OM DRIVE THANKS

To the Editor:

Our thanks to the many individuals, civic organizations, businesses in the community, and to our families and friends who supported our efforts with donations and encouragement so we can compete at the Odyssey of the Mind World Finals competition.

We were able to raise over $4000 in a short period of time to make this trip possible due to the generosity of the community contributions. It has been a great boost to our team to have so many rally to cheer us on to the World Finals.

We appreciate everyone who patronized our lawn sale and car wash, who attended the benefit Just Imagine Coffeehouse, and who were donors to our OM Supports T-shirts, and to all of those who lent their assistance to make the fund-raising events possible.

Special thanks to graphic arts teacher David Tripp for all his work in getting us the T-shirts, to the SAD 44 Board of Directors for appropriating funds, to Superintendent Dewaine Craig for his support of the OM program in the district, to Principal Bruce Bell for his assistance in managing the funds, to the Telstar Teachers' Association for taking a special collection for the team, to the Bethel Rotary Club for the club and individual donations, and to team families who have been super with their assistance in numerous ways to prepare for the regional, state, and now the World Finals competition.

Once again a big thank you. Laurie Young, Katie Chapman, Martha Grover, Michelle McInnis, Teri Chadbourne, Caitlin Bass, and team coaches Donna Richard and Jean Bass,

WHY SO LITTLE INTEREST?

To the Editor:

The fundraiser held on Saturday, June 5 to benefit organizations at Telstar was a total flop due to lack of interest.

The Only Place sponsored a volleyball tournament in hopes of raising dollars for the Telstar National Honor Society Scholarship Fund and the Track Team Boosters Fund. Only three people showed up for the event. This was just another example of the community's lack of support for their school. Isn't it sad when businesses and community members generate ways to raise money for the school and receive little or no support?

The same event is scheduled for Saturday, June 19. Four "man" teen and adult teams are encouraged to sign up and play in the "Brain and Brawn" volleyball tournament. The fee is $12 per team or $3 per person. Proceeds to benefit the above named organizations. Registration is at noon and games start at 1 p.m. The rain date is Sunday, June 20. Let's pull together, form teams and participate in this fun, worthwhile event.

SAFER FAMILIES THANKS

To the Editor:

Safer Families Program would like to publicly acknowledge a very generous gift to our program from a local community organization.

Ms. Freda Davis, on behalf of the District Exchange, presented a check for $500 recently in support of our program's activities and advocacy for domestic violence victims. I'd like to use this opportunity to express my sincere thanks on behalf of Safer Families Program's very limited funds just now. The money will be used for continuation of our 1-800-827-2292 hotline phone number and for printing of "purple" cards and fliers.

The Safer Families Program purple cards are handed out by local law enforcement and by the Oxford County Sheriff Department to victims when they go to a domestic call. We've been through two printings of fliers and are grateful to be able to print more because we are constancy being asked for more.

So, to the District Exchange, thank you. You've really made a difference in Bethel. Your kind gesture to us is indicative of your commitment to our community.

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

Ann Hastings Morton reviewed some of the highlights of the history of the town of Hanover, where she has lived for over 20 years. She described the origins of the town, the role of Phineas Howard, the struggles of some early inhabitants, the water system which powered the mills, and anecdotes of some of Hanover's colorful characters.

1993 marks the 150th anniversary of the incorporation of the town and Mrs. Morton's presentation marked that important milestone in Hanover's history. A special exhibit on the history of Hanover was also of interest to all those attending this meeting and will be continued through the summer.

During the business portion of the meeting, president Jane Hosterman announced that the next meeting would be held on July 1 and feature the annual picnic.

Since 1993 is also the former Town of Mason's 150th anniversary of incorporation, the picnic will be held in the town named for Dr. Moses Mason in 1843. The meeting will feature a presentation on the history of that former town.

Mrs. Hosterman announced that the "Artifact of the Month" was a genealogy of the Soule family, published in 1926 in two volumes in a run of only 500 copies. This donation was the gift of Stephen T. Seames of Locke Mills.

The president reminded those present that the Mason family gathering will be held on June 20 and anyone with Mason ancestry was urged to attend. She also announced that the Kilgore family would be here June 25, 26, and 27 for their first national family reunion. It is expected that much family research will be done using the Society's extensive genealogical collections.

Persis Post announced that the refreshments for the evening all contained rhubarb.

Vandals slash tires, cut up lawn chairs

Bethel Police were busy last week responding to reports of vandalism and criminal mischief.

Wednesday morning, a Chapman Street resident reported that the lawn chairs around her swimming pool had been cut up. Police estimated the value of the damaged chairs at $209.

Later Wednesday, a Clark Street resident reported that during the night all four of his vehicle's tires had been slashed and a small window on the passenger side of the car had been broken. Police estimated the damage at $532.

Thursday an Old Route 2 resident reported the theft of two potted plants from her porch. The plant's were valued at $6.

Police also made two arrests last week.

On Wednesday, Kevin S. Rogers, 24, of Lewiston was stopped for speeding, 71 m.p.h. in a 50 m.p.h. zone. A subsequent check of his driver's license revealed it was suspended. Rogers was arrested for operating a motor vehicle with a suspended license.

Monday night, police arrested Jason R. Standeven of Bethel for operating under the influence of an intoxicating substance.

Friday afternoon, police responded to a juvenile's request to see an officer. The juvenile told police another juvenile had been pushing him around and hitting him. Police met with the second juvenile, who said he was having a problem with the first juvenile and would continue his behavior toward him if the problem continued. Police told the second juvenile that a report regarding the incident would be filed with the juvenile intake worker, who would then contact his parents.

Selectmen decide against extra road work on lower Main St.

By MICHAEL DANIELS

The Bethel Board of Selectmen voted unanimously Monday evening not to add almost $25,000 of additional work to the lower Main Street project.

The possibility of having the additional work done by the project contractor had been raised during a recent walk-through of the work area.

The three additional pieces of work being considered were extending the sidewalk past the auction house (former Martha's restaurant) at the end of lower Main Street, reducing the handicapped ramp at the corner of Vernon and Main streets (which is being used as a driveway), and grading and reshaping approximately 650 feet of Vernon Street.

Town Manager Madeleine Henley estimated the cost of the three projects, respectively, at $4,398, $844 and $19,594.

And she argued against going ahead with them.

"These refinements would greatly enhance the project area; however, I hope you will decide against them for two reasons," she recommended to the selectmen.

Her two reasons were money and money—there being virtually no funds left in the Phase II budget, and the unlikelihood of voters being willing to spend additional money on projects like sidewalks.

Following a brief discussion, the selectmen unanimously agreed with Henley, and board chairman Arlan Jodrey suggested that much of the work could be done by the town road crew, and for less money.

Other business

In other business at Monday's regular board meeting, the selectmen unanimously approved a $750 sewer fee adjustment for L'Auberge Country Inn, where a leak in a connection pipe artificially spiked the water consumption records for a year beginning in March of 1991.

Owner Werner Kohlmeier assured the selectmen that the extra water had run out on the ground and not found its way into the town sewer system.

The selectmen also awarded a two-year bio-solids hauling contract to Doug Bennett. Bennett offered to haul the sewerage waste for 2.5 cents per gallon. Ralph Merrill, the only other bidder, quoted a price of 2.9 cents.

The selectmen turned down a request from Jeff Parsons that the town provide liability insurance for a proposed summer soccer camp.

The selectmen expressed support for the idea, but worried about setting a precedent by underwriting a for-profit venture.

Parson said he expected to charge $60 to $75 per week for youngsters enrolled in the camp.

"I hate to discourage the venture," said selectman John Thurston, "but think there's a valid concern about subsidizing for-profit ventures."

The selectmen suggested that Parsons and the town Recreation Committee try to work out another way of providing the coverage.

Special Town Meeting

The selectmen also set Monday, June 21 as the date for a special town meeting, at which voters will be asked to decide whether or not to accept a state planning grant; to take an avigational easement over the George and Elizabeth Gilbert property, and to shift town funds from accounts running a surplus to accounts with deficits

Woodstock camp owners ask for road to be fixed

By DUANE HAYES

Roland Pelletier, president of the Concord Pond Campers Association, told Woodstock selectmen last week that the road leading to the pond is in poor shape and members want to know what can be done about it.

"The road is very bad," Pelletier said. "A lot of the culverts are smashed up, the road surface is gone, leaving nothing but ledge and clay. There isn't much of any drainage and the trees lean over the road so the sun can't dry it out."

He also said there is a lot of concern over tractor trailer rigs hauling heavy loads of wood all the way from Shacklee Hill to Abbott's Mills, so they can shave miles off their trips to New Hampshire.

"If someone doesn't stop them we'll have no road left," Pelletier said.

Selectmen Leon Poland said he didn't believe the trucks could be stopped unless the town can post a weight limit on the road.

"I agree that the road was never made for loads that can be as much as 100,000 pounds and maybe it can be posted to a limit the same as bridges can but I don't know for sure," he said.

Selectmen also thought since the Concord Pond road is only seasonal they might be able to post it.

Selectman and Road Foreman Percy Monk said he would do the best he can for the camp owners "but any major rebuilding job has to be voted on at town meeting."

Pelletier said most of the owners are only seasonal residents and are not here at town meeting in March.

It was decided that Maxfield will check the laws concerning the posting of road weight limits and Pelletier will gather signatures for a petition and deliver it to the town office.

"I know Percy does all he can and will help us as much as possible," Pelletier said.

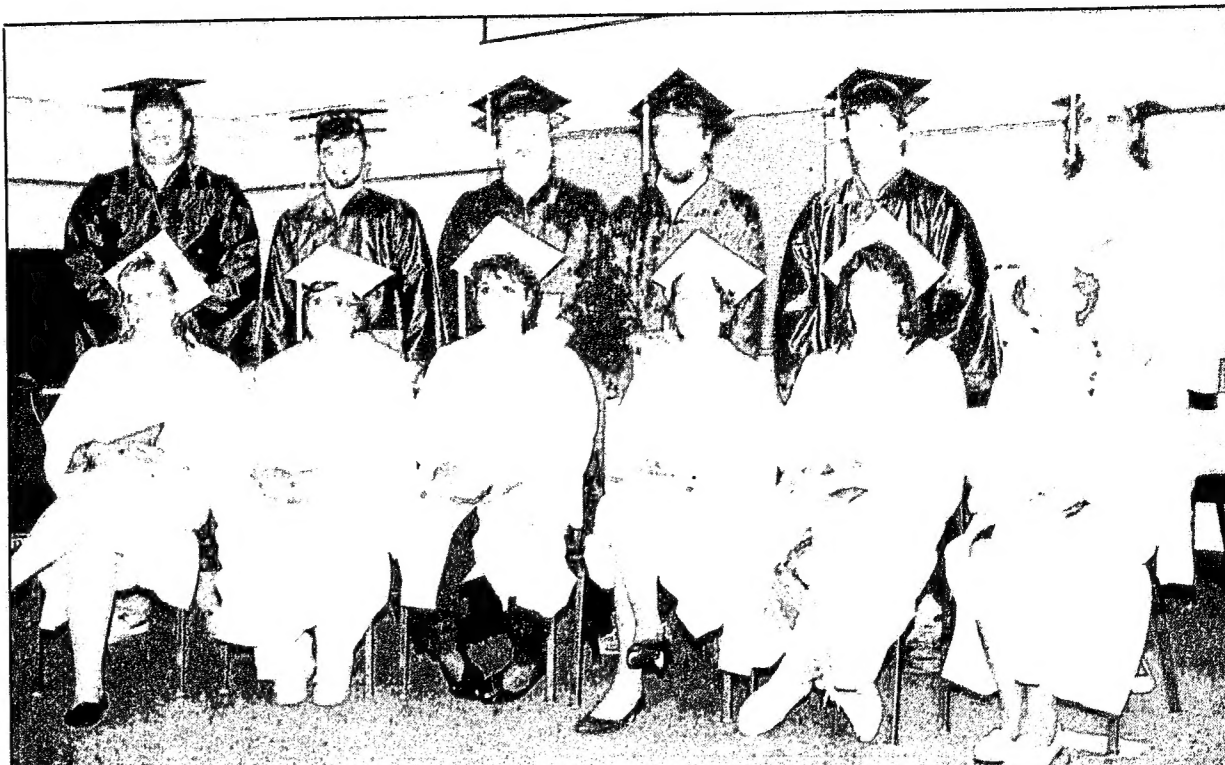

Maxfield said after Tuesday's meeting that voters will probably be asked at the annual town meeting to approve some type of repairs to the four-mile stretch of road.

In other business last week, the board announced the town is offering for sale a 1976 Ford 800 Series dump truck with a 391 gasoline engine, five-speed transmission, two-speed rear axle, a 5-7 yard dump body and 94,225 miles.

"There is no plow gear on the truck, as it was removed to place on the new town truck that has just been purchased for a replacement," Maxfield said.

The truck can be seen during regular business hours at the Woodstock Town Garage, and if anyone has further questions they can contact the town office at 665-2668.

Bids will be accepted until 5 p.m. June 15 and all bids must be sealed and clearly marked "1976 Ford Truck." Bids are to be sent to: Town of Woodstock, P.O. Box 317, Bryant Pond, Me., 04219.

Town Meeting

The selectmen and Budget Committee also differ on the matter of putting up winter sand. The Budget Committee wants the town crew to do the job, which would cost $14,680 less than the selectmen have allocated for having the job contracted out. The selectmen feel the town crew is being put to better use when it is free to work on long-standing road problems.

And in order to hold down the coming tax hike, the Budget Committee also recommends pulling $20,000 from the Street and Road Reconstruction Account and $20,000 from the General Capital Account (both accounts are money that has already been allocated).

Proposed budget increases for the coming year (recommended by both committees) include an additional $21,560 for employee compensation packages, $6,630 for street lights and other electrical charges, $5,650 for general office maintenance contracts, $4,100 for equipment repair, $3,765 for ambulance service equipment and $3,612 for ambulance garage maintenance and repair.

Items costing less in the proposed budget are solid waste management tipping fees (down $24,218), debt service (down $21,600), landfill water testing (down $4,800) and miscellaneous ambulance service (down $3,975).

Site plan revisions

Voters will also determine tonight if the town will adopt revisions to its Site Plan Review Ordinance and Floodplain Management Ordinance.

The site plan revisions were drawn up by a Site Plan Advisory Committee, in part to simply update and clarify the ordinance (which was adopted in 1987 and revised in 1989). But the changes are also intended to address complaints from some business people that the ordinance made it unnecessarily difficult for businesses seeking to start-up, relocate or expand.

The revisions, which have been recommended by the town Planning Board and the Board of Selectmen, would make the following changes:

- loosen the definition of "change of use,"
- eliminate the need for applicants to demonstrate evidence of having the technical and financial resources to tackle a project,
- reduce the amount of parking required for most projects,
- extend the amount of time allowed for a project to be started and completed,
- and make it easier for the Board of Appeals to grant waivers in situations where the town's requirements impose a financial hardship on an applicant.

The draft revisions originally proposed by the advisory committee would also have restricted the Planning Board's authority to require additional information about unusual projects. However, the selectmen and Planning Board later voted to retain that authority for the board, but with the stipulation that the additional information be "pertinent."

The proposed revisions also tighten some requirements—for example, for all projects involving wetlands or other natural resources, Planning Board approval would be conditional on the project receiving all necessary state and federal permits. (The lack of such a requirement was a point of contention on the Bethel Park Apartments project.)

Floodplain regs

Voters will once again be asked to reenact a Floodplain Management Ordinance for the town, but this year officials are recommending that the federal, rather than state, model be followed. The federal model regulations are less restrictive than those in the state model, but still meet Federal Emergency Management Agency requirements.

Other graduation activities this week include a BBQ for seniors sponsored by the Community Chemical Awareness Team at noon on Wednesday.

CCAT will also host an ice cream smorgasbord for seniors following graduation rehearsal on Thursday and a reception for graduates, their families and friends in the school's cafeteria following Friday's commencement.

This year's Project Graduation celebration will be held at Royal Health Club in Gorham, N.H.

The Jackson-Silver American Legion Post in Locke Mills will host a breakfast Saturday morning for graduates returning from the Project Graduation celebration.

Channel IV public access cable television plans to broadcast Telstar High School's commencement exercises live, Friday at 7:30 p.m.

The broadcast will be available to United Cable Vision subscribers.

OMers

Richards said the second place finish for the spontaneous problem lifted the team into sixth place.

For the spontaneous competition, the OMers were presented with three pictures of penguins and given one minute to look the photographs over and two minutes to respond in a humorous or creative manner.

"It was a fun problem," Richardson said. "We give them harder problems than that in practice."

The Telstar Middle Schoolers also hosted an OM team of seventh- and eighth-graders from New South Wales, Australia. They lived with Australians in the dorms, went to meals with them and supported them during the competition.

"They primarily acted as American friends to the Australian team," Telstar co-coach Jean Bass said.

Andover dump plans progressing

By JAMES STEVENS

Department of Environmental Protection regulators have written the Andover Board of Selectmen to let them know that they were headed in the right direction on the town's transfer station plans.

Chairman of the Board Wayne Delano said, "We are letting the dump committee decide exactly where the solid waste transfer site should be located, and then we will have to go from there."

"We still need a site plan, but it does not look like there is going to be a problem," said Delano.

The DEP sent a large-scale drawing—which included the perimeter boundaries, existing access roads, and the 100-foot minimum setback requirements—of the present dump sites to the board.

"Once our plan is completed, we expect that they will issue our license," said Delano. "We still have containers that we have to purchase for the garbage to be hauled and all of that."

The DEP also informed the board that the transfer station could not be placed within 250 feet adjacent to another land owner without their written permission.

"Once the dump committee decides where it should be, I do not think there will be any need for us to get an engineer because the committee's recommendations will be sent to the DEP and they will issue the license," Delano said.

"I certainly hope that we do not have to, because if you start getting into engineers, things start getting real expensive," Delano asserted.

The board also discussed the fact that closure would also involve the capping of the old dump.

"We are trying to comply, legally, as fast as possible, but I cannot set any deadlines because, at this point, there are still too many variables," Delano said.

To help communities which for various reasons have been unable or unwilling to close their solid waste sites and to prepare for closure, the legislature has passed a new act—LD-254.

The act, designed to extend the operating deadline for municipal solid waste landfills, grants the DEP commissioner the power to enter into agreement with municipalities establishing a future date for closure if the community meets three criteria:

- the selection of an alternative option has been done;
- the development of a reasonable schedule for implementing the option is completed; and
- the town must cease to accept waste at the landfill by a specific date.

State Rep. Al Barth

Legislative Update

The Legislature is moving slowly toward its statutory adjournment date of June 16 with little substantive resolution of the final biennial budget. A budget must be passed before the change of the fiscal year on July 1 or state government will again be shut down.

No one on either side of the aisle wants a repeat of the shutdown two years ago. The fight then was for meaningful reform of the workers' compensation system.

This year, the budget problem is lack of revenue. The economy is slowly recovering but at a snail's pace. Revenues from sales taxes, income taxes, liquor sales, lottery sales and other sources simply are not enough to fund what every state department has requested. To complicate matters, individual legislators representing special interests or programs they helped to create, refuse to set priorities and make real cuts. Simply put, state government can no longer do all that it has been doing since the boom years of the 1980s.

My personal feeling is that it is not enough just to cut some programs. We must restructure certain programs so that they really work.

For example, our current welfare programs, both at the state and federal levels, do not work. There are no real incentives for recipients to get off the public dole. Under current rules, taking a job results in the loss of all benefits, including health insurance, for the person on welfare and his or her children. Welfare, requiring recipients to work for their checks, was recently defeated in the House when legislators said such a requirement was "demeaning" to the welfare recipient.

That couldn't be further from the mark. Experiencing the feeling of earning their keep would be the best thing in the world for welfare recipients. They would not only learn skills, but develop a sense of pride in themselves. If we ever hope to break the generational cycle of welfare, we must break the dependency people have on the system. It must serve as a safety net for people who are going through a bad time, not as a career option. People need incentives to break free. I think keeping people trapped on welfare is far more cruel than nurturing independence and self-esteem.

In these budgetary times, the continued infusion of money into a program that has been a proven failure doesn't make sense and is not my idea of good government.

Many people are saying that we must keep the temporary taxes enacted two years ago, which are due to expire July 1 unless renewed by the Legislature. That amounts to a tax increase, since the Legislature promised that these taxes would be temporary. You notice these taxes are one-percent extra on the sales tax and an income tax surcharge. They also want to increase taxes by removing exemptions, which will also affect you directly and indirectly.

Maintaining "level" funding will mean $200 million in new taxes, in addition to keeping the "temporary" taxes. Let people think that state government is cutting overall spending, let me quote some figures taken from the State of Maine Annual Report: General Fund Expenditures--$639,597,281 (1982), $1,533,844,301 (1992) = 240 percent increase; Federal Fund Expenditures--$353,156,774 (1982), $916,318,709 (1992) = 259 percent increase; Total Expenditures--$992,754,055 (1982), $2,450,163,010 (1992) = 247 percent increase.

What has caused this escalation of spending? The addition of new programs during the 1980s, when revenues increased rapidly as our economy experienced robust growth. Shouldn't we look at these new additions to state government to see if indeed they are absolutely essential. I would rather see these sums of money used to properly fund my number-one priority—education—and to provide those services vital to those people who cannot provide for themselves. The key is to restructure and reorganize state government. Unfortunately, time is rapidly running out. Please let me know your views. We must work together to craft a budget we can live with, a tax structure that won't bankrupt individuals and provide programs that work effectively.

If you ever need any help dealing with a state-related problem, or would just like to comment on an issue before the Legislature, please feel free to call me at 824-2931 or 287-1440.

Agnes Gray School

By MARTA CLEMENTS

Several students are looking forward to the final field trips of the year. All our trips tie in with some unit of study in our curriculum. The kindergarten and first grade are also taking a trip to the Gray Animal Farm.

The DARE graduation was the final activity for my fifth-graders, who have all completed that program. Officer John Tibbets has done a magnificent job. One of his final assignments was to ask my class to write an essay on why they will stay away from drugs. The class voted on one to be read during the graduation ceremonies, and Eric Thorpe's essay received the most votes. All the essays are excellent, but congratulations to Eric. His peers selected his.

Book swap

Second-grade teacher, Mrs. Terry Merrill, and parent volunteer, Mrs. Dixie Inman have planned a book swap. We will be learning as we go, but to begin with, any child who wishes to swap one or two of his own books will be able to do so. We hope this will give some new reading material to our students to enjoy during the summer. Mrs. Merrill and Mrs. Inman are planning to broaden this idea and a Saturday date may be announced later. There may possibly be another one during the summer.

The annual field day for the upper grades will be held on June 15. The children will need a bag lunch, and need to be prepared for the weather. The field at Hebron is wide open. Children should wear clothing, or bring lotion, which will protect them from the sun. It is often windy there, and sometimes shorts and sleeveless shirts are not enough to keep the children warm.

The annual Awards Assembly will be held on June 21. Parents are invited to attend if they wish. The chorus will perform and many awards will be presented.

Grades one thru six attended the SAD 17 Art Show at the high school last week. Children from all classes, kindergarten through twelve, had work on display. There were several outstanding pieces of work.

There is lots of academic work still going on amongst all the outside activities. The sixth grade enjoyed a visit from Dr. Russell Florenz who talked to them about the heart and circulatory system. The class has also dissected a cow's heart, and will wind up the unit with a healthy health food luncheon. My fifth-graders are enjoying their science unit on food chains and webs. We have several terraria complete with our rye grass, soil, earthworms, crickets and chameleons. The fourth-graders have been enjoying their Brain Quest competition under the direction of parent volunteer, Mr. Ken Dembski. The third grade is studying rocks and minerals, and hope to take a field trip to a mine. The second-graders are using outlines to help them write folk tales. The stories will be published soon. The first-graders are well into hatching their chickens, and the science unit on sink or float is in full swing. The kindergartners are nearing the end of the alphabet and are bringing in animal pets to visit their classroom.

The library will be closing up soon for the summer and we are trying hard to get children to return all their library books by the end of the week. Please help get them back to school.

This last month of school will go by quickly. Please remind your children to keep you informed of all activities. Watch for the weekly school calendar.

FORESTDALE SDA SCHOOL WRAPS UP YEAR

In South Woodstock another school year came to an end Tuesday, June 1, as four eighth-grade students and 29 other students received recognition for their achievement this past year. Graduating from eighth grade with high honors were Melissa A. Cabana, daughter of Pastor Michael and Sharon Cabana of South Paris; and Amanda M. Hadley, daughter of Dale Hadley and JoAnn Appleby of Bryant Pond. Graduating with honors were Gina Lynn Hotham, daughter of Faye Taylor of Bryant Pond; and Jesse Velasquez, son of Louis and Melva Velasquez of Otisfield.

Recipients of the Top Citizenship Award were Stephanie Appleby, daughter of Walter and JoAnn Appleby of Bryant Pond; and Marcy Knightly, daughter of Muriel Knightly of West Paris. Recipients of the Top Scholar Award were Tricia Hadley, daughter of Keith and Darlene Hadley, and Melissa A. Cabana.

Of the 33 students that attended school this year, 24 were awarded good citizenship and 26 made the honor roll. Peggy Fisher, educational superintendent for the Seventh-day Adventist Church in Northern New England, gave the Commencement Address, "Sacrifice Without a Struggle." The students played several songs using newly-purchased hand chimes. A reception followed.

FORD NAMED COLLEGIATE SCHOLASTIC ALL-AMERICAN

The United States Achievement Academy has named Amy Ford a Collegiate Scholastic All-American.

The Scholastic All-American Collegiate Scholars must earn a 3.30 or better grade point average. Only scholars selected by a school official or other qualified sponsor are accepted. These scholars are also eligible for other awards given by the U.S.A.A.

Ford, who attended St. Michael's College and Gould Academy, was nominated for this National Award and will appear in the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Directory, which is published nationally.

"Recognizing and supporting our youth is more important than ever before in American history. Certainly, winners of the Scholastic All-American Collegiate Awards should be congratulated and appreciated for their dedication to excellence and achievement," said Dr. George Stevens, Executive Director of the United States Achievement Academy.

Ford is the daughter of Tom and Wendy Ford of Bethel. Her grandparents are Ham and Rae Ford of Franconia, N.H., and Virginia Howard of West Paris.

West Paris High alumni gather

By DUANE HAYES

The West Paris High School Alumni Association held its annual banquet Saturday, honoring this year's seniors and the 20-, 50- and 60-year classes.

The large gathering assembled at the Agnes Gray School on Main Street, which formerly housed the elementary students on the first floor and the high school students upstairs. Although West Paris High School was closed in the mid-1960s to become part of the Oxford Hills School District in South Paris, the Alumni Association has continued to keep the organization alive with the annual banquet.

At Saturday's reunion there were former students and their guests from 1921 to the present West Paris students graduating from Oxford Hills High School in South Paris.

Association President Gary Inman of Albany Township opened the evening's events by welcoming everyone and calling on the spokesman of each of the honor classes to speak.

Vernon Inman of the class of 1943 read a copy of the Class Will and said, "Those four years at West Paris High School will always be remembered as four of the best years of our lives."

Four members of the 20-year class of 1973 commented on their days at the school and gave tribute to the teachers who meant so much to them.

In a special ceremony a candle was lit by the class of 1933 and a moment of silence was observed for all those classmates that have died.

Linwood Andrews spoke on behalf of the seven members of his class who were able to attend and reflected on the comical antics of those years as well as the many musical talents that the class exhibited.

Some of the members of the class of 1933 are still playing in the Parisiens, an orchestra that plays at many benefit dances in the area.

"We began by playing at a birthday celebration in honor of a friend," Andrews said, "and have played at many benefits since here in West Paris, Sumner, Woodstock and other area towns."

Two 1993 graduates of OHHS were present to receive scholarship awards to help them pursue further education this fall.

Ann Tikander will be attending the University of New England where she will study physical therapy. Justin Wormell plans to attend the University of Maine, Orono, to train for a career in professional education. Tikander was given a $200 scholarship as was Wormell, but his was also increased to $400 by two anonymous donations.

Also receiving a $200 award was Dianna Poland, who was unable to be present at Saturday's event.

President Inman told the recipients, "You will find only a letter in the envelope when you open it, but don't worry a check will be yours as soon as you contact the committee upon completion of your first semester."

During the business meeting it was voted to include spouses, teachers and people who have been closely associated with West Paris High School, even though they did not graduate from the institution, as associate members. The move was made to increase the membership and strengthen the organization.

Also new officers were elected for next year. They are: Bertha Benoit, president; Doreen Benson, vice president; and Charlotte Mayo, secretary-treasurer.

To conclude the meeting, Inman asked that if anyone had any information such as photos, records, documents, etc. pertaining to the history of West Paris High School and would like to donate them to the association, those items would be displayed at the West Paris Historical Society building on Main Street along with the many mementos that are already on display.

Gould takes MAISAD baseball title

By KIRK SIEGEL

Gould Academy established its baseball program in only two seasons, as it took the Maine Prep League (MAISAD) title slightly over a year after it held its first tryouts in 15 years. The team finished with a 7-1 record, with Patrick King and captains Josh Otten and Gregg Harrington named All-Conference.

Gould was blessed with solid hitting and a solid pitching staff, headed by Harrington of South Berwick (4-0) and Pat King of Bridgton (2-1). Harrington had an ERA of 1.45 with 54 strikeouts in 29 innings, and King finished with an ERA of 1.22 with 48 strikeouts in 23 innings.

Aaron Lockwood of Hallowell recorded the other Gould win.

Starters batting better than .300 during the season were Omar Robinson of Bermuda (429), Pat King (412), Eric Harlow of Intervale, N.H. (370), and Josh Otten of Newry (345). Otten will captain the team in 1994.

The team loses Robinson, Harrington, and King to graduation, but things look good for next year, according to head coach Charlie Newell, himself a star pitcher for Gould and the University of Maine in the 1960s.

In addition to awards in Sportsmanship to Gregg Harrington and Most Improved to freshman Shawn Morales, the Bowhay Award was given to Harrington for his all-around contributions to Gould baseball. George Bowhay coached Gould Academy to many winning seasons from the '40s through the '70s.

Coach Newell extended a special salute on behalf of the team to departing manager senior Nicole Halpenny, and coach A. James Fiske, who will be teaching at Telstar next year.

"Forget our signals, Jim," joked Newell to his assistant. "We'll change them when we play you next year!"

Steve Remington popped out to left. Gilson took first on a badly handled fielder's choice. Emery got a good jump on the pitcher, and scored on a wild pitch. Tim Remington and Howe grounded out, stranding Gilson.

The Eagles retaliated in the bottom of the third with four runs and never looked back—scoring a total of 13 runs from the third inning on.

Telstar threatened in the sixth, and added another run in the seventh.

With two out, the Rebels loaded the base in the sixth. Tim Remington drew a walk to lead off the inning. Howe singled, followed by strikeouts by Miserocchi and Josh Adams. Vince Roberts drew a walk to load up the bases, but Bill Chase struck out on a full count to end the inning.

The Rebels' final score came in the seventh when Emery went to first on a walk, second on fielder's choice, third on a balk and home on a passed ball.

Other Rebel highlights included an outstanding catch by shortstop Howe, who snagged a screaming line drive with two out and the bases loaded in the bottom of the sixth.

Telstar got two hits, left seven on base and made four errors.

Gould Academy sophomore Keavy Cook of Intervale, N.H., is the first recipient of a special Gould Academy service award, created this year in memory of a late alumna of the school, Annie Courchesne.

In the words of faculty member Dr. Marvin Ouwinga, Courchesne's adviser at Gould, Courchesne strived to "inspire others to look beyond themselves to the larger problems which face human communities."

Courchesne was killed in a traffic accident last year, and the Annie Daley Courchesne Award recognizes Keavy Cook's determination to make the world a better place through her active involvement in Gould's community and world service program.

Cook received an inscribed bronze cup, and a monetary contribution of $100 was made to Amnesty International. Keavy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rusty Cook.

The Historical Society chronicles the tradition of the American Way of Life. It also puts our country's development in the perspective of world history. Fred Judkins gave the Historical Museum a book of maps. Be sure to visit antique shops and museums this summer. Antiques are the heirlooms of our ancestors.

They are the very essence of our past. The Woodstock Historical Society will meet on Saturday, June 12, for a regular meeting.

The Woodstock Alumni Banquet will be held on Saturday, June 12, at Telstar Cafeteria at 6 p.m. Special guests are classes of 1923, 1933, 1943 and 1993 Telstar seniors from Woodstock and Greenwood.

Judith Grover Tent 17 D.U.V. will hold a regular meeting on Monday, June 14. Plans will be made for the Convention to be held June 25 and 26 at Waterville. Refreshment committee will be Beatrice Farnum and Alice Hoyt.

Maggie and Joseph Hoyt spent the Memorial Weekend visiting their father, James Hoyt, and grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ken Hoyt. Steve, Beth and Marybeth Hoover are visiting this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt. Jo Ann, David, Ray and Shawn Crockett were supper guests on Monday.

Marybeth Hoover visited her great-grandmother Bernice Farnum on Tuesday.

Francis and Glennis Brooks donated a basket and some old coins to the Historical Museum. Remember the Museum is open Saturday afternoons this summer. Curator Larry Billings will present "A Short History of Drama" at the June meeting.

East Bethel

By NANCY MERCER

There were about 30 people at the East Bethel Cemetery for the Memorial Day ceremony that Jackson-Silver Post 68 from Locke Mills provided. We really appreciate the service.

The East Bethel Church Association held its annual meeting on May 31 at Floribel Haines' home. Election of officers was held as follows: president, Stanley Howe; vice president, Barbara Honkala; secretary, Nina Mollicone; treasurer, Dorothy Bartlett. The association will hold its first service as a candlelight service with light refreshments after the service. There are no dates yet, but plan for two services in July and two in August.

Arlene Harrington was in York on May 27. She placed flowers at a cemetery there and visited Mr. and Mrs. Robert Remington overnight.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gamble of Hanover, N.H. visited Florence Hastings on June 3.

Ellen Hastings is home from New England College in Biddeford for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Dyke were camping in Leeds on Memorial Day weekend.

Cindy Olson and son Kane were on Vinalhaven Island from June 2 to 4 on the second-grade class trip.

Denise Coolidge is home for the summer from U.M.O.

Mrs. May Dunham of Locke Mills and her daughter visited Peggy Coolidge recently.

Serena Enman of Canton visited Peggy Coolidge recently.

Judy Coolidge and her daughter, Vicki of Northwest Bethel visited Peggy Coolidge on May 31.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bartlett of Hopkinton, Mass., visited at the Bartlett Homestead on May 30.

So. Woodstock

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Joyce and Ellsworth Hathaway have returned home from a six-week travel vacation in their motorhome. They stayed at many campgrounds, state parks and met some interesting people.

They attended the 1993 Ward World Championship Wildfowl Carving Competition in Ocean City, Md., which was great.

They went on to Branson, Mo., and Silver Dollar City in Ozark country. In New Mexico they saw the Buffalo and Eagle Dances by the Navajo and the Pueblo Cultural Center in Albuquerque and visited Sky Mesa where the Acoma Indians have lived since before the Spaniards came and 13 families still live there year round.

They visited the Meteor Crater where the astronauts were trained for their trip to the moon.

The Petrified Forest was beautiful and of course the Grand Canyon in Arizona was breathtaking.

They spent some time in Golden Valley, Nev. and Las Vegas, then on to South Northridge, Calif. to visit son David, wife Donna and grandsons Ryan and Brandon. They were taken to Santa Monica, Rodeo Drive, Malibu, Beverly Hills, and all the places one hears about but doesn't expect to visit.

They missed the earthquake by a few days, also a couple of tornadoes on the way out. On the way home they visited daughter Jane and family in Milford, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews spent Wednesday with their aunt Olive Davis.

Fred Judkins called on Olive Davis Wednesday and had dinner with us. He is leaving Maine to live in Florida the rest of his life so has sold his home in Bryant Pond and has had yard sales to move his belongings and will be leaving in sometime in July. Fred has made many Grange friends in Florida, having lived there winters for several years, so it has become a real home to him. We wish him all the happiness he can find in Florida.

Esther Davis was in Lewiston for an eye operation on Wednesday. She was able to come home Thursday afternoon. Edith Davis Deegan is staying with her aunt for a while.

Curator Larry Billings has given two pictures to the Historical Society Museum.

Mrs. Vernon Poland is home from the hospital. She has had an operation on a bad leg while there.

Vernon Poland is still in the hospital and would enjoy hearing from friends. It's a long time to be ill.

North Newry

Sorry about the information on the Windy Valleys Snowmobile Club's lawn sale of last week. Nobody told me that they had decided on not having it.

Memorable, Memorial Memories...The Memorial ceremonies at the Newry Town Building last Sunday were enjoyed by quite a number of people who remembered the sacrifices our men endured for us. Coffee and snacks were served.

Three moose, three rainbows and a mouse (my cat brought it in)...three rainbows were spotted from my window Monday afternoon over Roy Bennett's house; three moose were spotted, one on the way to Upton, and two here on Route 26 near Louise and Norm Tetley's house. "A memorable weekend..."

Mrs. Doris Dore of Concord, N.H.

COMMUNITY SERVICE—Telstar High School's National Honor Society members recently finished their year with a community service project at the Maine Conservation School in Bryant Pond. The tasks included cleaning the inside and staining the outside of the volunteer cabin. Here Doug Bennett and Fred Burk team up to reach a high spot.

spent a week here in North Newry with her daughter Betsy Clark while Dick was up north doing some fishing. Did he catch any? Yes, he did.

The Newry Mothers' Club Banquet is scheduled for the evening of Monday, June 14 at the Town and Country Inn at 6:30 p.m.

The "Newry Bowling Gang" members at the Oxford Lanes in Rumford last week were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Doris Parent and Bea Lowell. Of the "Lefties" Karlene was high on the triples but tied with Gil on the singles. Of the "Righties" Doris was high on the triples and the singles. Karlene had one strike and three spares, Betsy had four spares, Gil had one strike and three spares, Bea one spare, Doris three spares and Louise one spare.

Remember to sign up for the Storyland trip by June 16. Call Lisa Vail at 824-3530.

Don, Christine and son Brett Bachelder were in town for the graduation of Don's daughter Tracy at Gould Academy. Also attending her graduation were Tracy's two brothers, Travis and Brian and her grandmother Karlene. Her grandfather Ras was not well enough to attend. Tracy will go to Bethany College in West Virginia in the fall. All of the above, except Tracy, went to Stratton to visit with their grandfather Aaron Bachelder on Sunday. Don and family returned to Florida on Monday.

Louise Tetley and Gil Seeley were at the Rumford Community House Center on Friday to visit with Amy and Roger Hanscom.

East Stoneham

By ELEANOR NELSON

Sympathy is extended to the family of George Brown of Springwater, N.Y. George was a former resident of Stoneham, the son of Ted and Eunice Brown Grover.

Sharon Traish, Aisha, Jaffer and Nawal from Belmont, Mass., were at their cottage at Lake Keewaydin over the weekend and visited her parents, Albert and Eleanor Nelson.

The cemeteries are looking nice with the grass mowed and trimmed with the flags and flowers out. The lilacs have been in bloom and smell so sweet. I forgot to tell you about the hummingbird last week. This little feller was darting around the flowers and his feeder and then he went into the open shed to the geraniums, and then on his way out he made me laugh. He went to a red Christmas light that was hanging there (we leave the string of lights up all year). I think it was a male because a female would have known the difference between a flower and a light bulb! I think he was surprised there was no fragrance.

Stoneham had a nice Sunday Service at church and a Memorial program on the church lawn honoring the veterans. Fryeburg Band played several selections and marched in the procession to the brook and to the Hillside Cemetery where the Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War held memorial services at the grave of Dustin McAllister. Leslie Dean does a good job organizing these programs. Afterward, refreshments were had at the church vestry.

Dwight and Mary Grover are at home after being away to the coast over the weekend.

Albert and Eleanor Nelson went to their camp at Wilsons Mills on Tuesday and came home on Thursday. We saw seven moose and two deer. The moose are really awfully plentiful and one has to be quite watchful driving. Some were walking away from us in the road and some were just by the roadside. And what does one do about flying ants? If it isn't one thing, it's another.

On Sunday, Pastor Wilcox introduced us to her little grandson from Milford, Me., son of Marilyn and Craig Cowling. I think he was only about two weeks old, and what a nice bundle of joy.

Two moose have visited two different nights at Charlie and Jeannette Knight's home.

Charlie and Jeannette Knight attended a birthday party for great-grandson Christopher Henderson's seventh birthday at his mother's on Pikes Hill, Norway on Saturday. His birthday was Friday.

Charlie and Jeannette Knight visited Jason and Phyllis Smith in Bethel on Tuesday evening.

Marion and Richard Smith from South Paris called on Jeannette Knight one afternoon last week.

Jeannette Knight walks about every day. Last week is the first time she came face-to-face with a bull or cow moose. It was curious for only a few minutes and then went into the woods. Have seen deer and other small animals but that was the first time in three years of walking that a moose was encountered. Leslie Gammon, Marianne's husband, celebrated his birthday on Saturday. Leslie is the husband of Jeannette Knight's daughter in East Waterford.

Greenwood City

By COLISTA MORGAN

This is the last Sunday in May. The morning was enchanting except for the strong wind. It was early when I got up and so quiet and new.

I looked toward the pond and felt the change of another season. Here am I to participate.

The month of May brought a little warmer weather, filling the creatures in and around the pond with new energy and exultation. In the waters and marshes, along the shores, woods and fields there lives a varied population of wildlife.

The pond itself has a variety of moods. On bright days the water is flat and reflective, on breezy days it chuckles at some secret humor, but on stormy days it pulls a cover over itself, hiding or crying, as it moves restlessly.

I went to the farm fields on Sunday afternoon. My first visit there for the season. As usual at this time of the year the Bobolink was bursting with joy. He is a distinctive bird, unlike all the rest. His song is entirely his own. I have never heard the Catbird or the Mockingbird even try to imitate him. His finest livery and his sweetest music are reserved for the northern fields and for a brief period only. He is best in May and early June.

He is a happy-go-lucky fellow, with his suit on wrong-side up, the black below and the white above, a reckless rollicking sort, throwing care to the winds. His music bubbles irrepressibly forth at such a rate that half a dozen notes seem to be crowding upon the heels of every one uttered. His notes tumble out with long rapidity, in an effort to jump over each other. Nevertheless this harum-scarum expression of joy is a most pleasing character. I saw him on rock and grass all the way up the hill.

At the top of the hill a stretch of about 50 feet of lilacs were in full bloom.

With the Bobolinks, the lilacs, the scenery of mountains: Patch, Hedgehog, Edgecomb, Peabody, Round, Long, Joe and Overset beyond, it was an afternoon to remember, time rich. There were towering trees, ferns, moss beneath my feet, springy ground and a babbling brook.

I'll keep the golden day a treasure time apart, like long warm days of childhood saved softly in my heart.

What more could one ask?

At the farm on Sunday it was very quiet at noon. There were just three of us--Leonas, Fay and I. David, Sally and Mary attended a car show at Owls Head. Ann had a college friend, Nancy Hutton from Portland, visiting her and they had gone to North Conway.

Milton and Eleanor Inman were camping for the weekend.

John and Dot Betts were in North Conway on Saturday.

My niece Kathy Curtis came to see me on Friday.

I have most of my plants set outside, so now I have to hope that there will be no frost.

NEWRY RECREATION NEWS

On June 1 the Recreation Committee met to firm up plans for some special summer activities. Coming right up is an announcement to all Newry students, age 18 and younger, that the committee will be making six awards of $50 each for those planning on attending camp this summer. Requirements for application include: (1) must be a Newry resident, 18 and under; (2) write a one-page essay "Why I want to go to Camp"; (3) agree to perform one day's community service (13-18 year olds only). The deadline for applications is June 25 and must be submitted to the Newry Town Office in person or by mail, or to any recreation committee member. Selections will be made June 29 at 9 a.m.

Kevin Slater and Polly Mahoney will be offering a Jr. Maine Guide Canoe Trip again this summer. Dates are set for July 12 to 14, with registration on July 8 at 7 p.m. at the Town Office. This is a first-come-first-served program, selecting Newry students first, with remaining seats filled by SAD 44 students. Only students age 11 to 14 are eligible to attend. The fee will be on a sliding basis from a minimum of $25 to $50.

The committee thanks all those families who participated in the ski program and returned their equipment as requested. The committee plans a better organized distribution in the fall just as the ski season opens and expects to be able to fit all Newry students with equipment next year.

SUMMER LOOK PROGRAM

Students at Crescent Park and Woodstock Elementaries and Telstar Middle School will be bringing home invitations this week to participate in the 1993 Summer Youth Programs being offered by LOOK (Learning Opportunities for Our Kids), ARK (Area Resources for Kids), the YMCA, and the Norway Library.

A wide variety of opportunities is being offered to young children and teens. On the outside of the flyer is information about field trips, concerts, courses in paper making, juggling, as well as teen leadership training, Day Camp, theater ("Stories From Plant Earth"), and even a wiffleball tournament.

Inside, LOOK presents a wide range of courses for three age groups: 6-9, 9-12 and 13 and up. Offerings include such diverse topics as circus arts, French, Spanish, and crossstitch, also electronics, computers, gardening/ecology, and photography.

Courses are just $25 and will be offered the weeks of July 12, July 19, and Aug. 9 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.; each class will last about one hour and 15 minutes and they will be held at Oxford Hills Junior High School. Class size is limited to six, so early registration is encouraged.

SCORE SOME GOOD SMALL BUSINESS ADVICE

"Existing small businesses fail to realize that the local Norway SCORE facilities can be very helpful to them in working out today's business problems," a spokesperson for SCORE declared at a recent workshop. SCORE volunteers (retired executives) can focus on current, changing business conditions of local small businesses and offer sensible, experienced guidance on a number of issues.

The Norway SCORE Chapter, retired men and women business executives from retail, corporate, and professional backgrounds, volunteer their business experiences to assist both start-up small businesses, as well as existing small businesses. There are many small retailers and service companies that could benefit from the free, confidential counseling of SCORE members. The problem often is reluctance on the part of the small business owner to admit he can use help reaching his goals. "If we can attract those business people, and show them we can seriously assist them overcome some of their hurdles," the spokesman continued, "we can make a positive contribution to the local economy, and help lessen the business hazards of small business."

Many of the Norway SCORE Chapter's clients are persons who hope to establish their own businesses. They seek counseling on financing, finding information about the particular business they hope to establish, tax and regulatory details, marketing, and other questions. Two local SCORE counselors are selected, whose experience best matches the client's needs. They are assigned to sit with each entrepreneur and relate to the particular problems of that client.

"Our computer capability for working out specific projections for each client in a number of useful ways, from cash flow problems to business plans, is a substantial asset for any small business owner," the spokesman continued. "Using his own figures, we can show any existing or start-up business how various changes will affect his profits, inventory, or other factors." The existence of the SCORE computer for small business planning can be a gold mine of assistance, if the small businesses in Western Maine recognized the value of this kind of service offered by the Norway SCORE Chapter. "The real hurdle is the business person recognizing he needs help, and having the courage to ask for it." A telephone call to 743-0499, the SCORE office in Norway, for an appointment could make a difference.

Lifetime experienced, retired retailers, financial executives, marketers, advertising people and former business owners, food distributors, automotive specialists, industrial managers, and both men and women from other fields are available to counsel small businesses in Western Maine. Other SCORE chapters in Maine are located in Portland, Bangor, Augusta, Rumford, Caribou, Ellsworth, Dover-Foxcroft, and Lewiston. SCORE is sponsored by the U.S. Small Business Administration.

High Street

West Paris

By RUSSELL YATES

Friends, today is the day they are celebrating Memorial Day, and I guess we'll be going up to see the West Paris Parade a little later, but must get my news of our activities ready to go, come rain, wind or sunshine.

We've been doing some work preparing to plant a garden, but it won't be as large a garden as in the past. Last Monday I transplanted some plants that were ready to be put outside and I hope that there will not be any more frosts this spring.

Last Monday I received a letter from one of my Woodstock High School classmates, Ardella Gallant, and she and her husband, Gerald Gallant, wish to have our class of 1941 meet at their place in Mexico on June 27 for our Class Reunion. I got our class together for the Alumni Banquet and Class Reunion on our 50th anniversary and am trying to have a get-together of the class each year since then. As soon as I knew the dates for both the banquet on June 12 at Telstar High School Cafeteria and the Class Reunion, I wrote a letter and had copies made to send to each one of my classmates. I sure hope they come.

On Monday evening and again early Tuesday morning, we heard a whippoorwill, but he must have decided that this place wasn't for him as we haven't heard him since then. When we were kids living in Woodstock, we always had them in the spring, but I hadn't heard one for years. We always liked to hear them and hoped that he might stay around, but I guess he had other ideas, or plans.

Tuesday afternoon Peggy and I went downtown for errands. I had to get some eye drops at Laverdiere's and then we went to Copyset where I had copies made of the letter I had written to my classmates. Wednesday, we just stayed at home here and found plenty to do. We dug some weeds and grass out of the garden patch as well as other jobs. I have a nylon-string mower that is mounted on wheels and is run by a gas motor. It hated to start, but I remembered what my brother Bryce had told me. I took the air filter off and gave it a shot of WD-40 and it started immediately. It's always nice to learn different ways of doing things.

Charlotte Cole from Locke Mills called Wednesday evening. She had been at the nursing home to entertain and was on her way home.

The next day was a busy day for us. I transplanted some flowers into some of my window boxes. Some were flowers that I had started in the house. Michael Woolf, sister Viva's son-in-law, came up Thursday forenoon to get a Canadian rocker that belonged to Viva. She had been offered a room at Clover Manor in Auburn and had decided to take it. They moved her over Thursday afternoon. Her new address is: Viva Whitman, c/o Clover Manor, Ward 1, Room 11, 440 Minot Avenue, Auburn, ME 04210. Viva does enjoy getting cards and letters.

Thursday evening we attended the first three-point meeting of Franklin, Oxford and Pleasant Valley Grange. This was hosted by Pleasant Valley Grange of West Bethel and was preceded by a lovely 6 p.m. potluck supper. Franklin Grange officers filled the offices and Oxford Grange did a fine job with the program.

Saturday was a very windy day and there were short showers. Our neighbors were trying to have a yard sale, but they spent much of their time either covering their merchandise or uncovering it. They finally got tired of trying to work with the weather and decided to leave everything covered and call it enough. The wind blew some roofing from the roof of one of our out-buildings here. Repairing that will be another job that we hadn't planned on. Sometimes surprises are good, but sometimes they just aren't quite so good.

Anna Swan from Greenwood called in the afternoon to get Peggy to help her some on a program that she will present at our second three-point Grange meeting, which will be hosted by Oxford Grange on June 4. This meeting will be preceded by a 6 p.m. supper. Pleasant Valley Grange officers will fill the chairs and Franklin Grange will put on the program.

Sunday was quite a nice day, but was still breezy enough to discourage some of the black flies. I hoed my peas in the forenoon and then in the afternoon we got up a fence for them to climb on. My peas didn't come very good, but just maybe we'll get a few. Sunday afternoon dooryard callers were Wynona and Michael Woolf and two daughters, Courtney and Kariann. Also with them were Mike's mother and younger sister from California. They are visiting Mike and Nonie at the present time. They were all on their way to decorate some of the graves for Memorial.

When Peggy went out to take in her flag Sunday night, she was met on the doorstep by a baby porcupine. He apparently had ventured off by himself as mother porcupine didn't seem to be around. He went into some of the shrubbery in the corner by the front steps and was gone by Monday morning.

Thursday, Mary Lovejoy called on Barbara Felt in Bryant Pond.

Friday evening, Mary visited Jay Whittemore of Oxford, Jim Palmer of North Norway and Chris Whittemore and friend Sherree of South Paris.

Jennifer Haverinen spent the weekend with the Lovejoy girls. Our neighbors, Grace and Grant Larose have returned from Florida.

In behalf of West Paris Grange, a big THANK YOU is extended to all of those who helped in any way to make the Memorial parade possible.

Our next Pomona Grange meeting will be hosted by Alder River Grange of East Bethel. This will be preceded by a 6:30 supper. This meeting will be election of officers, so be present to accept or defend yourself. The date will be June 22.

Franklin Grange will meet again on June 21. This will be CWA Night with Alice Hoyt in charge.

There will be a dance at the West Paris Grange Hall on June 12 with The Richard Felt Orchestra furnishing the music.

I was asked to report that our nephew, Gary Yates, who recently spent a week visiting in Maine and is now home in Maryland, has completed his second year of study at Maryland Bible College and Seminary in Baltimore. Gary is studying to become a missionary and we all wish him well in his plans for the future.

Rotary Club notes:

The agenda was full at last week's Bethel Rotary breakfast meeting as the Rotary hosted six honored guests from Australia and the Telstar Middle School Odyssey of the Mind team who are on their way to the world competition in Baltimore, Md.

The OM team, coached by Donna Richards and Jean Bass, performed their skit, which is an interpretation of the novel "The Old Man By the Sea." The sets, music, costuming and acting were extraordinary, and all Rotarians agreed this was surely an award-winning performance!

President Jeff Parsons introduced John Head, who coordinated the Australian Group Study Exchange visit to western Maine. John, in turn, introduced the group leader, Simon Terry, from New South Wales, who is a proprietor of a 200-seat restaurant. After sharing a bit about himself, Simon introduced the five participants, three men and two women.

David Meiklejohn is a manager in a Woolworth's Supermarket in New South Wales. Andrew Hamilton owns a family farm where sheep, cattle and cereal crops are raised. Michael McCormick is a newspaper editor in Wagga Wagga. Jackie May is a reporter for the Australian Broadcasting Company. Michele McInnes is a psychologist in the Australian Army.

Each of these individuals shared a little bit of themselves to the club, which proved to be very humorous.

John Head arranged for a full day of activities for the group, including a tour of the Moses Mason House, a tour of a woodlot at P.H. Chadbourne's, lunch at the Sunday River Brewery and a canoe ride down the Androscoggin.

Other guests for the morning were: Joyce Miles and Mark Provost from Rumford; Paul Thornfeldt; Frank Shorey and Dave Paine from Oxford Hills; Pattie Parsons and Ron Jenkins, Bethel and the club welcomed back summer regular Gil Robinson. The club wishes to send a sincere get-well message to friend Bill Lowther, who is ill at home in New Jersey.

GETTING A DOWN UNDER VIEW OF ROTARY-The Bethel Rotary recently hosted six visitors from Australia, as part of an Australian Group Study Exchange. The Australians, and a few of their hosts, were from left, Nancy Harrison, David Meiklejohn, Simon Terry, Patty and Jeff Parsons, Andrew Hamilton, Michelle McInnes, Jackie May and Michael McCormack.

It was reported that the fellowship day held in May was well attended and thank-you notes had been received from some of the churches who were represented. The president, Virginia Keniston, announced that Campbell soup labels were still being collected and counted for the school. It was voted to contribute $25 to each child in the Sunday School who is planning to attend Camp Mechawana this summer. Sixty-four sick calls were reported.

All committees for the shop gave their reports and asked for volunteer workers, either to help on Friday afternoons or to donate crafts, handiwork, knitwear and baked goods. The Evans Notch Ranger District of the White Mountain National Forest is sponsoring a summer series of Campground Talks at Hastings and Basin Campgrounds, both located on Route 113. The talks will be presented by local experts in the fields of forestry, wildlife, history, and outdoor recreation.

The Campground Talks series is made possible by a grant from the White Mountain Interpretive Association, a private organization based in Conway, N.H., which provides financial assistance for interpretive programs on the White Mountain National Forest.

The talks are free and open to the public; please bring a lawn chair. For more information, contact Dianne Daley at the Evans Notch Ranger District, 824-2134.

The Bethel Church of the Nazarene has announced a change in its regular order of service for Sunday, June 13.

The regular morning Sunday School and Worship services will be at their usual times of 9:30 and 10:30 respectively. However, there will be no regular evening service at 6 p.m.

Instead, there will be a 2:30 music and worship service with Joe Croteau, the owner of Carmela's, who will share in music both through the use of accompaniment tapes and guitar.

This service is open to the public and there will be no charge for admission; however, a voluntary offering will be taken.

Those desiring more details may call Gerry Shimamura at 836-3354 or Pam Conkright at 824-2456.

WHITMAN LIBRARY NEWS

The Whitman Memorial Library is seeking volunteers to help in the library. Anyone willing to help with cleaning or outdoor work should contact the librarian on Tuesday or Thursday at 665-2505.

There will be a book sale on July 20 (Sat.) from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and one on August 12 (Thurs.) from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Space is available for individual sales at $2 each. There was a good response last year with all who displayed items.

Anyone with flea market things to sell is asked to contact the librarian for a space. There are many tourists on the road at this time who welcome such sales. It will be held on the library lawn with much advertising.

The library is seeking to buy an up-to-date encyclopedia. Anyone wishing to contribute money for this cause will be greatly appreciated.

Those who would like to form a Friends of the Library Group are encouraged to call the librarian as well.

Anyone willing to have a summer Story Hour should let the library know.

The library is undergoing various changes, and an Open House is planned in the fall for all to see.

FEWER ANTLERLESS DEER IN SIGHTS THIS FALL

Fewer hunters will be issued permits this fall to take antlerless deer in Maine, according to the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife.

The Inland Fisheries and Wildlife Advisory Council recently adopted any-deer permit allocations for 1993 that are more conservative than last year's in the majority of the state's 18 deer management districts, as wildlife officials attempt to reverse recent deer population declines in northern and eastern Maine and encourage continued slow growth of the deer herd elsewhere.

By a unanimous vote, the council accepted the Fish and Wildlife Department's proposal to decrease the number of any-deer permits issued this fall by about 5,500, to 44,500. Permit numbers will be increased only in DMDs 7, 15, and 18.

Applications for any-deer permits will be available by mid-June, according to the department.

Wildlife officials say:

If you care, leave them there

State wildlife officials have some advice for people who find young wild creatures they believe are orphaned or abandoned: If you care, leave them there.

Lisa Kane, wildlife education coordinator for the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, says these young animals and birds are often less wary of humans than their parents, and are discovered "rescued" by well-meaning people, particularly children.

"But in most cases," Kane adds, "these 'orphaned' youngsters have not been abandoned and are better off left alone in the care of their natural parents."

Kane suggests two rules of thumb to go by when a young animal or bird is encountered:

—If you have to chase it to catch it, it doesn't need your help.

—Leave them there. Wildlife parents often conceal their young during the day, returning at intervals for feedings to check to see if they are safe. Handling young birds and animals reduces their chance for survival, since the human scent can scare the parent away. Also, leaving a human scent trail makes it easier for predators to find a baby.

For anyone worried that a wild animal may really be orphaned, Kane advises: "Observe it from a distance for a few hours. Try to keep domestic dogs and cats away from the area. Eventually you may see one or both parents return to care for the youngster."

"Before you handle or otherwise disturb any creature you may be concerned about, check with a local game warden, wildlife biologist, animal welfare organization, or wildlife rehabilitator for information about its life requirements. No matter how well we know how to nurture our own kind, we are no substitute for a mother robin, raccoon, or rabbit."

"Most wild youngsters learn survival from one or both parents. For them, the perils of the wild are a natural part of life. Some will not survive; however, those that learn well and are the most fit will usually live the longest."

The wildlife educator also issues a word of caution to those who would try to handle a wild animal: "In most cases a wild creature, whether youngster or adult, will perceive you as a danger, not a helper, and will invariably strike out in self defense. A raccoon or squirrel is capable of inflicting a serious bite; a loon or heron can put out an eye with its heavy, sharp bill; and there is always the possibility of disease, such as rabies, being transmitted to you."

Kane advises giving wide berth to any wild creature that is behaving strangely, walking unsteadily, having convulsions, or acting tame. "Contact a local authority, and let them decide if the animal is exhibiting a disease."

She further advises that "almost all wild birds (with the exception of starlings and house sparrows) and all mammals are protected under state and federal laws, and it is illegal even to pick up a bird or animal without the appropriate permits. These laws are designed to discourage people from attempting to obtain a pet from the wild, and to protect young wildlife from being kidnapped from their natural environment."

"Wild creatures do not make good pets. Although the youngsters are cute and adorable, as they grow into mature adults, wild instincts will take over, making them unmanageable and undesirable as household pets," she said.

BACKYARD BIRDWATCHERS SOUGHT FOR 1993 SURVEY

Oxford County residents are being asked to participate in a national survey of backyard birds conducted by the Home Habitat Society.

Those who participate in the Annual Bird List will be asked to complete a questionnaire concerning the habitat surrounding their home. They will also be provided with a checklist of birds, on which they will record which species visit their yard each season and the relative frequency of sightings.

Homeowners from both rural and residential areas are needed to participate in this survey. Property size can vary from the smallest yard to an entire farm. Participants will be sent the 1993 forms, to be returned at the end of the year. They will then receive a summary of the survey, including recognition of those who have the greatest number of species for various size yards in each state. The survey results are also printed in the Society's journal, "Home Ground." To take part in the Annual Bird List, send $3 registration fee to The Home Habitat Society, P.O. Box 412, Taneytown, MD 21787.

Jackson-Silver Post #68

The Jackson-Silver Post 68, American Legion met at their hall on the Gore Road, Locke Mills, on Thursday, June 3 at 7 p.m.

Various committee chairmen reported at the opening of the business for the evening. The finance officer, Richard Cross, reported the present balance on hand with all bills paid to date. Andrew Bartlett, athletic officer, reported line-up for the summer baseball team is still incomplete. The correspondence officer read many expressions of thanks for donations received from those who had been ill or had lost loved ones.

Under other business was the matter of dealing with the landscaping of the building area. Herbert Lyons offered to mow the grass around the building if the metal debris scattered through the grass was removed. It was also voted to move the newly-planted blue spruce near the road to a spot nearer the building. Herbert Lyons further volunteered to prune and trim all the trees in the area.

Andrew Bartlett was chosen to do general maintenance work in and around the building in the future, under the supervision of the executive committee.

It was voted to hold a Project Graduation breakfast for the local high school seniors on Saturday, June 12, at 6:30 a.m. It was further voted to appropriate $200 to cover the cost of food. Any Legionnaire who would be available to help with this project would be more than welcome.

Under new business, the following motions were made and carried: voted to pay the expenses for all delegates attending the State Convention in Bangor on June 18 and 19; voted to purchase new American Legion grave markers; voted to upgrade present rifles to a more modern type.

For all people who read this column and are interested: there will be a 40th anniversary of the Korean War for all veterans in Washington, D.C. on July 25. At this time a Korean War Memorial will be dedicated. Anyone who would like to attend, please call Post Commander Earl Tyler at 824-3785 or Post Adjutant Brian Strickland at 824-2530.

There will be a meeting of the Post executive committee on July 15 at 7 p.m.

The new "Brian Strickland Scholarship Fund" has been awarded by Brian himself to Pat Harrington, a senior at Telstar presently residing in the Irish neighborhood in Greenwood.

Free use of the Legion Hall has been granted to: the Jefferson Lodge, Bryant Pond plus $100; to Gail Weston for the purpose of raising money to benefit Cystic Fibrosis; to the Greenwood Fire Dept. for a benefit breakfast given by the Legion Post.

Time of the breakfast will be announced later.

Jackson-Silver Auxiliary

At their meeting on June 3 the members of Jackson-Silver Unit 68, American Legion Auxiliary were happy to receive three new members: Justyne Myers, granddaughter of Post member Andrew Bartlett, was signed up when just six days old; the others are Brenda Dyke and Evanna Davis, eligible through the Post membership of their husbands, Ronald Dyke and Daniel Davis.

Many of the members were quite busy during the recent Memorial Day weekend. On Sunday, May 30, several went to Newry where they participated in that town's ceremonies. The next day a number of them marched in the parade in Locke Mills taking part in ceremonies at the honor roll and throwing flowers into the water in memory of those service people lost at sea.

Upon return to the Legion Hall on Gore Road a short dedication service was held of the two new spruce trees which the Auxiliary had contributed to the Post's Memorial Garden. One was dedicated in honor of Past Department President Fannie Cummings, and the other in memory of Past Department President Rena Howe. It is planned that these two trees will be lighted each year during the Christmas season, the bulbs will be purchased by people in honor of, or memory of, a veteran or someone connected to that veteran or to the American Legion or Auxiliary. The money realized from this sale of bulbs will be used for the gifts the Unit buys each year for veterans at Ledgeview and for their annual contributions to the gift shops at Togus and the Maine Veterans' Homes. Cost of these bulbs will be a minimum of $2. Those who wish may contribute more.

Those members who did not march in the parade were back at the Legion Hall baking doughnut muffins and making coffee for the marchers. After a quick bite and cup of coffee, it was off to East

Bethel Cemetery where a ceremony was held.

In the afternoon the marchers turned up in Bryant Pond for the services there at the honor roll and at the Lakeside Cemetery, after which Kathleen McAllister, Vera Cross and Martha Stowell joined Post Commander Earl Tyler and Past Commander Herb Lyon in a trip to Ledgeview Nursing Home where they visited veterans and others, including Past Unit President Mildred Tyler. Throughout the parades, Miss Poppy, junior member Erica Tripp, daughter of Past Commander Raymond Tripp, Jr., marched at the head of the parades. She had helped poppy chairman Vera Cross distribute poppies during the month of May at various places in Locke Mills and at the bingo nights at the Legion Hall. Donations, exceeding $120, are to be used for service to veterans and their families.

During their recent meeting it was noted that three of the long-time junior members have turned 18 and are graduating from high schools this month. They are: Chandra Bailey, granddaughter of Post member Leland Dunham; Shellie Swan, daughter of Raymond Swan; Rebecca West, daughter of member Ray West, granddaughter of member Cleve Lovejoy and great-granddaughter of the late Alanson Cummings.

The next meeting is scheduled for June 24, which is the week following the state convention. All members are reminded that each one is supposed to bring a can or package of food to each meeting. This is used to stock the District Food Exchange cupboard at Ethel Bisbee School in Bethel.

All residents of the SAD 44 district are eligible for this service when in need.

One member of the Auxiliary Unit has had to make use of it and found the people staffing it most helpful and kind.

News from the

The Bethel Library

Celebrate reading...celebrate the Library! During the week of June 13 to 19 there will be special events planned at the Bethel Library to highlight library activities. The events are as follows:

Monday, June 14--Senior Day--seniors visiting the library will receive a carnation.

Tuesday, June 15--"Amnesty" Day--overdue books may be returned without a fine. Now's the time to bring back the books that are so overdue you've been afraid to deal with them.

Wednesday, June 16--Volunteers' Reception--from 6:30 to 8 p.m. there will be a reception to honor our library volunteers and the Trustee Emeriti. It is hoped that all committee members, trustees and library volunteers will attend this open house. Brief formalities will be at 7 p.m.

Thursday, June 17--"Peter Rabbit's 100th Birthday Party"--this event is planned for the Story Hour children, but is open to all young children regardless of whether or not they have been regular attenders of Story Hour this past year. Stories, games and refreshments will be provided.

Friday, June 18--Kickoff of the Summer Reading Program for pre-schoolers through fifth-graders. The first 24 children checking out books Friday afternoon for their summer reading will receive plastic "I Got it at the Library" book bags to help them keep track of all the books they will be reading this summer.

The theme of this year's Summer Reading Program, open to pre-schoolers through next fall's fifth-graders, is "Discover Adventure at the Library." Pre-schoolers and beginning readers may have help from adults; older children should read their books themselves. The goal is to keep children reading and to encourage library use. This year, older children who may want to read lengthy, more challenging books, may speak to the librarian about setting a personal challenge for themselves; otherwise, the goal is to read 20 library books over the course of the summer. Forms will be sent home the last week of school, and pre-schoolers may pick up forms at the circulation desk of the library. In late August there will be an exciting field trip for "fall first-graders" through "fall fifth-graders." The younger children will have a party at the library. This program has been enthusiastically received by parents and children for the last three years, so we are hoping for another reading-packed summer from area school children.

Thanks to many talented volunteers, there will be a variety of special events taking place at the library this summer. There will be a birthday party for Peter Rabbit (who turns 100 this year) on June 17 from 10 to 11, for all Story Hour children.

Nancy Hansen and Gail Sysko will lead "Summer Theater" this year, August 16-20. The play and the times have not been finalized yet, but all interested children should watch the Citizen for more information. The play directors have requested that their players be "fall first-graders" and older, as children must have the ability to learn lines, follow directions, and listen to others.

Beth Hitchcock will share her storytelling expertise with two special Story Hours, open to all, on June 22 and July 6, from 2 to 3. There will also be two "Myth Making" sessions with Carol Fiske, a "Literary Trivia" game with Charlie Raymond, "Goat Day" with Heather Vail and "Summer Olympics" with Dan Hannon, Levi Brown and Julie Hart. Again, watch upcoming notices in The Citizen for dates on these fun events.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

Psa 37:1-6 Fret not thyself because of evildoers, neither be thou envious against the workers of iniquity. (2) For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, and wither as the green herb. (3) Trust in the Lord, and do good; so shalt thou dwell in the land, and verily thou shalt be fed. (4) Delight thyself also in the Lord; and he shall give thee the desires of thine heart. (5) Commit thy way unto the Lord; trust also in him; and he shall bring it to pass. (6) And he shall bring forth thy righteousness as the light, and thy judgment as the noonday.

In a day when it seems that morals, the Ten Commandments and Bible as a whole are considered outmoded by New Age philosophies, there is a tendency for those who still have old fashioned Godly convictions to despair of hope for our future generations. Where will it all end?

If it seems to you that evil is rewarded and righteous acts go unrecognized, don't give up-rather, take seriously the advice or command in our Scripture passage, "Fret not...neither be envious" of those who are rewarded for wrongdoing. Why? "They shall soon be cut down as the grass." God will take the matter into His hands in His time. He doesn't always immediately judge sin, but when He starts to judge sin, it comes quickly and surely! We do not need to be included in God's eternal judgment if we obey the advice that follows: trust, delight, commit.

1. Trust. Our forefathers so clearly saw the need to trust in the Lord, that all of our currency bears the words, "In God We Trust." God has blessed that trust, and we became an affluent country. Our affluence declines in direct proportion to the deterioration of that trust in God. This trust must initially be a personal trust in Jesus Christ in the deliverance from the punishment of our sin that He provided through His death, burial and resurrection. It is not through our goodness or our efforts; it is a free gift from Him by grace-through faith, Eph 2:8-9 For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves; it is the gift of God: (9) Not of works, lest any man should boast. But not only will we want to trust Him for our salvation, but also for our daily provisions.

2. Delight. When we are truly trusting in Jesus Christ for our salvation, spiritual blessing and daily provisions, we will delight or glory in Him also. He will be the focus of our attention, not the allurements of the world.

3. Commit. That is a term that is not readily accepted today. Many refuse to own up to their responsibilities to make commitments in marriage or commitments to the care of their children from the time of their conception.

As in the Eastern culture, a sheep commits itself totally to the shepherd's care; we need to commit ourselves totally to the Lord to meet all our needs and He will. As we "Commit" and "Trust," "He shall bring it to pass." If you are looking for real joy and peace, you will not find it in the philosophies of "Man is an end in himself"; it is only found by placing one's faith in what Christ did for us on the cross, trusting Him to guide us day by day, and committing ourselves in obedience to Him.

COMMUTE ALTERNATIVES WORKSHOP SLATED

The Natural Resources Council of Maine and the Greater Portland Council of Governments will hold Commute Alternatives Workshops in June, to help people get to work in cleaner, cheaper and more efficient ways than driving alone.

The workshops will cover transportation alternatives that can be used by employers, government agencies, universities and developers, including: bicycle and pedestrian programs, car and van pooling programs, telecommuting, flextime, alternative work hours and much more.

The Commute Alternatives Workshops are designed for company personnel officers, state and local officials, developers, planners, consultants, citizens groups and others.

The first workshop, "Introduction to Commute Alternatives," will be held in Augusta on Tuesday, June 22. The second workshop, "Making Commute Alternatives Work," will be held in Portland on Wednesday, June 23. The cost for either workshop is $15, which covers lunch, refreshments, a "Commute Alternatives Handbook", and other workshop materials. For more information, contact Bruce Hammond at the Natural Resources Council at 622-3101.

REV. JOHN P. HOWE II

The Reverend John Prentice Howe II, Ph.D., passed away Thursday, May 27, 1993 in Spokane, Wash. after a long illness. A memorial service was held June 7 at the Whitworth Community Presbyterian Church in Spokane, Wash. Later this year a memorial service will be held at the Newton Presbyterian Church in Newton, Mass.

Born in Dedham, Mass., Rev. Howe graduated, cum laude, from Amherst College in 1935. After working for Procter & Gamble during World War II, he began work in the forest products industry as a product development engineer for the Chadbourne Lumber Company. He completed a masters degree in wood science and technology at Yale University in 1955. In the fall of 1956, he began teaching at the University of Idaho, serving as chairman of the Forest Products Department. His research work at Idaho included tropical hardwood studies in Costa Rica and Honduras. In 1966 he completed his doctorate in wood science and technology at the University of Michigan.

Retirement from the University of Idaho in 1979 did not mark the end of Rev. Howe's collegiate career. He completed studies at Andover Newton Theological School while serving as the school's forester. He laid out a Biblical nature trail on the University of Michigan.

CARD OF THANKS

This is a very belated letter of thanks to all those who helped make Christmas for families such a success this year. Special thanks to the Locke Mills Legion members and Auxiliary members whose dedication to helping the community knows no limits. The Wednesday night bingo was outstanding! Thanks to everyone that worked that evening.

Thanks also to the S.T.R.E.T.C.H. Students, teachers and helpers for a great packing job. Many thanks to all the volunteers who have helped throughout the year with donations of every sort, including time, money, energy and strength.

Again thank you all
Nina Wheeler
